misen-top-gallant masts were carried away. In the might the salp barely escaped striking on Fishing Rip, a most about sixteen miles off land; and if it had not been foed tide would undoubtedly have been weeked. The rigging was covered with ice, and some of the sails sould not be taken in, and were cut away from the yards. The next morning the ship was struck by a heavy sea, which swept off all the boats, filled the cabin with mater, and did considerable other damage. At that time also presented anything but an agreeable sight, being covered with ribbons, rags, and ice; however, in three days all was made good. Since that time she has had good weather, and expected to get to Melbourne in ninety days.—Boston Traveller.

Police Intelligence.

A CHARGE OF EMPEZIMENT.—On Saturday aftermoon, officer Underhill, of the Second District Police Court, arrested a young man named Charles EnDermott, on a charge of embezzing $150 from his late employer, Mr. William Adams, merchant, No. 5 Cedar street, under the following circumstances:—It appears that on the 5th day of January a package containing $150 was delivered at the store of Br. Adams by the express. This package was received by the accused, who gave the expressman a receipt upon the delivery. Instead, however, of handing the package to his employer, he appropriated the contents to his own ass. Subsequently Mr. Adams was advised that the money had been sent through a certain express; and on laquiry being made, the express man exhibited the receipt written by the accused. McDermott, upon his arrest, became alarmed and acknowledged his guilt, and Justice Clarke committed him for trial.

They sat and watched her bosom heaving,
And softly bent to list her breathing;
And there were tears, and gloom and sighing,
For that sweet rosebud slowly dying.

The ties of earth were almost riven, And spirit ones from God in Heaven Were watching, clad in robes of whiteness To bear the babe to realms of brightness And now, the pangs of death all vanished From that fair brow, its gloom was banish No more can pain rend that sweet bosom, For Laura blooms a heavenly blossom.
